only one of its type in the state. Friloux says the squad has investigated five fires proving arson in four and ruling one accidental. Marsh is chief of the East Hancock County Fire Department, Friloux is Diamondhead fire safety administrator and Fayard is Waveland's fire chief. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

'Preaching teacher' seeks reinstatement

By RICH ADAMS

A Waveland Elementary teacher suspended last month for expressing religious beliefs to his class said Wednesday he plans to ask the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board to reinstate him at Monday night's meeting. William L. (Lee) Delcuze, 36, of Bay St. Louis, said Wednesday he was suspended without pay from his Waveland Elementary teaching job Feb. 7 for discussing religion with some of his physical education students.

Delcuze told the Echo he will appear before the school board and "challenge the board to become the first in the nation to comply with a 1973 U.S. Supreme Court ruling allowing religion to be taught in school after parental and student consent is obtained."

Delcuze said his students asked him about implications of the movie 'Omen II' which recently was shown on television, concerning an anti-christ and the Biblical Book of Revelations. The teacher said he told his physical education students on a recent rainy day when they were confined to the classroom, that those who wished to

HNC jerseys retired, harassment policy set

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Hancock County School Board voted Monday night to follow a 1961 school board decision to retire Douglas Necaise's Hancock North Central basketball jersey No. 44.

The board also officially retired Wendell Ladner's HNC basketball jersey No. 50 and adopted a policy for handling various 'personality conflicts' at HNC.

The board requested on Feb. 16 that Superintendent Billy D. Sills investigate why Necaise's previously retired jersey No. 44 was still being used by the team.

Hancock head coach suspended

By RICH ADAMS

Hancock North Central Head Football Coach Irvin Favre has been suspended from teaching and coaching until March 31 by Hancock County School Superintendent Billy D. Sills.

Sills confirmed Wednesday he suspended Favre after a private meeting with the coach, but refused further comment on the matter.

Sills cited Mississippi Code 37-9-59 as the law authorizing a superintendent to suspend a teacher without school board approval.

The Code states, "...for incompetence, neglect of duty, immoral conduct, intemperance, brutal treatment of a pupil or other good cause the county superintendent of education may remove or suspend any superintendent, principal, or teacher..."

Favre said Wednesday he has no comment on the issue, adding, "Mr. Sills made a fair decision by which I will abide."

Plaintiffs ask judgement in North Bay school suit

By RICH ADAMS

Plaintiffs in a $20,000 damage suit against the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board and Superintendent J. D. McCullough Monday filed a 'Memorandum in Support of Plaintiffs' Motion for Partial Summary Judgement' in U.S. District Court in Biloxi.

The memorandum asked for an immediate judgement from the court, but U.S. District Court Judge Dan M.

Russell Jr. instead recused himself from the case and transferred the matter back to U.S. Magistrate John Roper.

The motion was filed during a hearing in which the plaintiffs, the North Bay Parent-Teacher Organization and the Bay St. Louis Local, American Federation of Teachers, petitioned the court for injunctive relief against alleged unconstitutional practices of the board.

Russell, a former Bay St. Louis attorney, announced he is recusing himself from hearing the case because of his "past association with the school board as city attorney."

Roper earlier heard pre-trial testimony in November of last year.

The plaintiffs in the case are asking for $20,000 in punitive and real damages from alleged infringement of constitutional rights by the board's controversial Policy 18 and record reproduction policy.

Policy 18 sets up a 'chain-of-command' which patrons and teachers must follow to secure a slot on the board agenda, and the reproduction policy gives the superintendent authorization to deny a patron use of school copying machines if the patron's request is considered "frivolous."

In the 18-page motion, the plaintiff's attorney, Gerald Blessey of Biloxi, cites several past cases in which similar alleged infringement of rights have occurred.

The motion claims that: —"Policy 18...unconstitutionally restricts the Plaintiff's freedom of speech and association"; —"The copying policy of the

Shoreline Park family survives ordeal at sea

By RICH ADAMS

A Shoreline Park man, his two sons, and a nephew were stranded in sub-freezing temperatures off Cat Island in the Mississippi Sound Saturday night while rescue officials waited helplessly on shore for strong north winds to subside.

Hancock County Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson said his department, the Hancock County Civil Defense, U.S. Coast Guard of Pascagoula, and the Air and Marine Search and Rescue Unit from Long Beach searched all Saturday night for the 24-foot, aluminum hulled cabin cruiser 'Lone Star'.

The sheriff said his department received a call from Marie Blake, the missing man's wife, at approximately 8:10 p.m. Saturday, March 1.

Mrs. Blake said her husband and children, who were not identified by the sheriff, had taken the boat out Saturday morning and had not returned, adding she had checked numerous local landings and fishing camps for his pick-up truck and boat trailer.

Peterson, Civil Defense Director Robert Boudin, and Conservation Officer Clifford Roberts notified a number of Gulf Coast law enforcement agencies and the Long Beach rescue unit of the missing boater and his vehicle.

The truck and trailer were discovered in the parking lot of the Long Beach Harbor at approximately 9:52 p.m., Peterson reported.

The sheriff said he then notified the Open Gulf Watch and the U.S. Coast Guard Station in Pascagoula to begin

Cub scout receives bravery certificate

By RICH ADAMS

An eight-year-old Cub Scout Tuesday night was awarded a certificate of bravery by Waveland Mayor John Longo for saving the life of a drowning toddler last summer.

George Waterman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waterman of Waveland, is credited with risking his own life in saving the life of a toddler who was drowning in a 'hole' in a culvert near South Beach Boulevard in Waveland.

"Waterman and his cousins, Mitchell Boudesque and Jina Corona, were crabbing in Waveland on July 14, 1979, when one of two toddlers who were playing in the water fell in the culvert hole and started to gasp for air," Den Leader Lois Friloux read from statements taken from Boudesque and Corona.

"George dove into the water to help the young boy. The youngster tried to fight him, but George persisted in his efforts to get ahold of the youngster and managed to haul him to shallow water," she continued.

"This is a case where persistence paid off," Ms. Friloux added.

The mayor praised Waterman for his bravery, which was echoed by the aldermen.

Kiln man charged with school burglary

By RICH ADAMS

A 19-year-old Kiln man was arrested Tuesday and charged with one count of burglary by the Hancock County Sheriff's Department in connection with a Feb. 26 burglary of Annunciation Catholic School, according to Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson.

Peterson said Dwayne Mitchell, 19, P.O. Box 312, Kiln, was arrested at his home Tuesday afternoon after a search of the house produced a number of food and food preparation items reportedly stolen from the school. Peterson, Investigators Delbert Seay and Alvin Ladner, and Deputy Nathan Hoda made the arrest.

According to Peterson, items discovered at the home include 13 dozen eggs, a number of turkeys, venison, and hot fat fries.

Mitchell was lodged in the Hancock County Jail under a $5,000 bond.

Peterson said another suspect is being sought in the case who allegedly aided Mitchell in the burglary.

jersey No. 44 was ordered and received. Up to the present time, six players have had jersey No. 44," Sills explains.

Reporting on charges of teacher harassment at HNC Sills found, "...there is more of a personality conflict than harassment. It seems, if there has been some harassment, this problem revolves around personal dislikes for one another."

"The complaint I received most often from teachers was against certified letters that were mailed to them. Several questions arise as to the legal aspect of this type letter. The administration, in faculty meetings, go over policies; then a teacher receives a written reprimand as disciplinary action for failure to fulfill the responsibilities in a teaching assignment. Several teachers feel they are 'written up' when others do the same and are not 'written up'. On written reprimands, teachers cannot defend themselves or have a rebuttal," Sills explains.

"There seems to be a lack of communication on the part of all concerned. I find that personality conflicts have arisen between some of the administrators and some of the faculty. A more clearly defined policy manual might help in curbing the problem in communications and personalities," Sills reports.

The board then voted to follow Sills' recommendations which state, "I recommend in the future, the school board not hear or take part in any personality conflicts between communities, two or more teachers, or individuals. If any teacher has a complaint against another teacher, that teacher or the person complaining shall go through the proper channels as outlined in the school board policy."

"I recommend that the present school board follow the directions of the 1981 school board and put back basketball jersey No. 44 with a plaque outlining the achievements and accomplishments of Wendell Ladner's jersey No. 50, with a plaque outlining achievements and accomplishments of Wendell Ladner. (On Oct. 20, 1977, page 77 of the school board minutes, the school board approved the purchase of a sign and plaque for Wendell Ladner Memorial Gymnasium)," the report concludes.

HNC Basketball Coach Roland Ladner said he did not know what happened to the original No. 44 jersey and added, "the trophy case was not broken into so someone had to remove it with a key."

CURIOSITY SEEKERS

If you intend to implant a "For Sale by Owner" sign in your front yard, be prepared for the inevitable "Curiosity seekers". You'll probably spend more time tramping through the house with curiosity seekers than showing it to firm prospects.

Your "For Sale by Owner" sign leaves you open to all types of people and problems. For example, a visitor may present an offer to buy on which he doesn't intend to follow through.

You may make plans based on accepting it, only to learn that the "prospect" had no intention of completing the agreement.

A Realtor has the experience to unmask the insincere offer and turn it away before it does any harm. In fact, the presence of a Realtor usually will discharge any attempts of that sort. He will qualify prospects in advance and allow only those who are definitely prospective buyers - not curiosity seekers - to inspect your home.

Supervisors seek laws for dogs running loose

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors directed its attorney to draft a resolution asking State Representative J.P. Compretta to support legislation dealing with dogs running loose in the county.

Lawrence Carco of Lakeshore told supervisors at their regular monthly meeting Monday, "Dogs are running loose, killing goats and other types of livestock."

"Dogs have killed at least 25 head of my goats," Carco added.

County Sheriff Ronald Peterson said, "We do have a problem with dogs in the county. We don't have a dog warden, but, in some special cases we have called upon the City of Bay St. Louis dog warden."

Mary Caillier of Clermont Harbor reported, "The other day we had a cow drop a dead calf because the mother had been chased by dogs."

"Dogs in the BaySide Park area are roaming in packs," Carco stated.

Board President Dolph Kellar responded, "This board has no authority to regulate dogs in the county."

"The county ranger takes care of enforcing the stock law, but dogs aren't included in the stock law," Peterson stated.

Board Attorney Walter Gex said, "You've got a lot more houses in the cities within much smaller areas."

"In the county you're talking about hundreds of thousands of acres to patrol," Gex added.

"I agree you've got a problem, but I don't think the board has any authority in this area," Gex added.

Carco replied, "If you shoot these dogs then you're libel to whoever owns the dogs."

"The law says you have to catch these dogs, but how are you going to catch someone else's dogs," Carco asked?

Supervisor Sam Perniciaro suggested a local and private act be passed in the legislature restricting dogs in the county.

Gex then advised the board to authorize the resolution to Compretta which Gex will compose after investigating existing state laws.

"We'll have to sit down and word a resolution, but I think the resolution will be calling for a series of laws," Gex explained.

In other business at the 9 a.m. meeting in the county courthouse, the board:

—Approved a resolution asking the federal government for a time extension on the beach road project as requested by Lawrence Seal of Picayune, county engineer;

—Approved advertisement for bids to blacktop several roads in the county. Bids are scheduled to be opened 10 a.m. April 10. Kellar said a complete list of the roads is available at the chancery clerk's office;

—Approved bid advertisement for a tractor requested by Supervisor James Travica. The advertisement will call for a tractor with a ditching attachment, bushhog and hydraulic side-arm brush cutter;

—Approved a United Gas easement to run a pipeline under the Texas Flat Road;

—Approved a bond for Theresa A. Fayard; —Approved a 1980 budget amendment transferring $600 from the general county fund to the civil defense fund as requested by Chancery Clerk E. Michael Necaise;

—Approved a resolution asking Compretta to introduce a local and private bill calling for continuance of county's advertisement fund one-fourth mill tax. Necaise said children's and civic groups are aided by this fund;

—Approved a request by Supervisor Roger Dale Ladner advertising the sale of a Beat Three dragline;

—Approved a request by Ladner to advertise for bids on purchase a dumptruck for Beat Three;

—Approved an increase in Civil Defense Director Bobby Boudin's salary from $810 to $860 a month;

—Approved an increase of Civil Defense Secretary Dorothy Bielstein's salary from $600 to $635 a month;

—Approved several changes to the tax roles;

—Approved the monthly list of trailer permits;

—Approved the monthly docket;

—Approved a County Port and Harbor Commission resolution authorizing a 20-year lease-purchase option agreement with CMI Corp. of Port Bienville involving Lots 51, 52 and 53 for $368 a month. CMI is moving from a site included in the Borg-Warner plant area;

—Approved a resolution rescinding an earlier commission resolution of Feb. 14 rejecting all bids on a crawler bulldozer;

—Approved a port and harbor resolution accepting a $7,500 Coastal Machinery (a Gulfport firm) bid selling the commission's TD-15 bulldozer;

—Approved a port and harbor resolution accepting Coastal Machinery's $34,428 low bid for a new crawler dozer;

—Approved a port and harbor resolution committing the county to construct an access road to Port Bienville Industrial Park's southern end around the Borg-Warner plant site. Commission executive director Wilson

Webre said attorneys are now composing documents for the Borg-Warner land sale;

—Approved a port and harbor resolution employing Fromherz Engineers of New Orleans to provide plans, specifications and an estimate of work scope for the access road around the Borg-Warner site;

—Approved a port and harbor resolution authorizing a 30 foot wide Coast Electric Power Association easement rerouting electric service around the Borg-Warner plant site;

—Approved a port and harbor resolution authorizing a 20-year lease agreement with L & E, Inc., owned by former automobile parts dealer Elliott Casanova of Pass Christian, for construction of a Bayou Cadet icehouse. The agreement was signed by Marshall Strong of the Gulf Fishermen's Association, Casanova, supervisors and port commission;

—Approved a port and harbor resolution, in a 3-2 vote, employing Fromherz Engineers to provide Bayou Cadet bulkhead plans and specifications not to exceed $2,000;

—Approved a port and harbor resolution authorizing transferring $9,842 from the industrial park revenue fund to the industrial park bond fund paying the Economic Development Administration interest for a period ending March 1, 1980;

—Failed to second a motion offered by Travica approving a port and harbor resolution which would have authorized Fromherz Engineers to employ Gore Engineering, Inc. of New Orleans to conduct soils testing at Bayou Cadet for the proposed bulkhead. Supervisor Bert Courrege expressed his objection to an out-of-state firm being hired and questioned the necessity for a soil boring;

—Accepted a state aid project notice of completion for a county-wide road restriping project from Seal;

—Accepted a state aid project notice of completion for a Clermont Harbor railroad signaling project and passed a resolution specifying L & N Railroad responsible for signal maintenance as requested by Seal. "Everytime you have something to do with the railroad they always try to sneak in the county for maintenance responsibility," Seal explained;

—Accepted an hourly work agreement with Seal which also includes overhead and expenses. Seal said the new hourly agreement has been required by the state aid division rather than the previous retainer agreement;

—Heard a report by Peterson on the county's fire investigation squad. Peterson said the three investigators, Jay Marsh, Kenneth Fayard and Ed Friloux, have been deputized and are recognized by the state fire marshal as qualified fire investigators. Marsh said the local investigation unit is the only one of its type in the state;

—Heard a report by Caillier thanking the sheriff's department for furnishing McLeod Park with a police band radio;

—Heard a report by Friloux that Congressmen Trent Lott's office said federal funds are available to pay off the Diamondhead fire station loan. Friloux added the grant will pay 25 to 100 percent of the total building cost;

—Heard a request by Ethel Weaver, 1980 Red Cross Membership Chairman, requesting personal membership donations from supervisors. Necaise said he would prepare a $50 check for the organization;

—Heard a report by Circuit Clerk Henry Otis on the new Votomatic voting machines. Otis said the machines will be used this year's June 3, 24 and Nov. 4 presidential elections. Otis is trying to get as many people on the voting rolls as possible and is giving voting machine demonstrations to various civic groups. Otis added 17-year olds can register to vote if they are 18 before Nov. 4 and new residents can register after residing in the county for 30 days;

—Heard a request from Geraldine Lang requesting donations for St. Rose de Lima Catholic School.

Reviews planned on Handicapped, Bikeway studies

Gulf Regional Planning Commission has invited area public officials and media representatives to luncheon presentations next week on the commission's Gulf Coast Regional Bikeway Study and its Elderly-Handicapped Plan for The Mississippi Coast Transportation Authority.

Both plans involve Hancock County, with the Bikeway plan calling for modifications of the Bay St. Louis automobile bridge.

"Gulf Regional Planning Commission will be holding public hearings the week of March 17 on these two programs," a commission spokesman reported.

"In order to fully inform public officials and the media, we will be making luncheon presentations of each of the studies the week of March 10," he continued.

Each presentation will consist of a 30-minute film and discussion of the plan, the commission reported.

The presentation will be made in GRPC offices on the sixth floor of the Markham Building in Gulfport.

The Elderly-Handicapped Plan will be discussed at noon Monday and Wednesday, and the Bikeway Plan at noon Tuesday and Thursday.

According to Ms. Friloux, Waterman now becomes eligible for national recognition from the Boy Scouts of America.

In other business Tuesday, the aldermen told Charles Black he and an associate cannot rent sailboats from the beach in front of Buccaneer Park's Wave Pool.

Longo told Black the beach area is residential, and in order to have the area commercialized, rezoning of the beach would be necessary.

The mayor also warned that the 'Beach Association' would object to the proposal.

Black said he has considered taking his business to Pass Christian, but added he wants to remain in Hancock County.

Black said he will offer free sailing lessons and offer "three or four boats to the Boy Scouts or Girl Scouts one or two days a week free of charge."

Longo and the aldermen suggested Black work out an agreement with the Hancock County Board of Supervisors to use county beachfront in Clermont Harbor.

Also at the meeting, the board authorized Alderman Barbara Rappold to advertise for a gas leak detector and metal detector.

Rappold said a representative of Southern Cross Inc. of Atlanta, Georgia will demonstrate a 'Flame Pack' gas leak detector within 30 days.

Rappold said the detector is sensitive and will work better than the present method used by the city.

Alderman Herman Yarborough suggested the board also look into purchasing a metal detector to locate gas pipes.

In other business, Vi Bradford of Waveland suggested the board investigate the possibility of constructing a bicycle and jogging path to run parallel to the railroad tracks through Waveland to Bay St. Louis, allowing access to Buccaneer State Park.

"There will be more and more bicycles in the city with the gas shortage, and some of the roads here are too narrow on which to ride bicycles," Bradford said.

Longo said he will ask Louisville and Nashville Railroads about the proposal.

Beautification group schedules Monday meeting

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Committee on Clean-up and Beautification will meet at the Chamber's office on U.S. 90 on Monday at 2 p.m.

Anyone interested in this county-wide campaign is invited to attend, according to Warren Carver, chairman.

The local chapter of the American Association of Retired People (AARP) has accepted an invitation from the Committee to join with them in an effort to rid Hancock County and the cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland of trash, rubbish, litter, and junked automobiles.

Mrs. Esther O. Schmamm, president of AARP, has announced the appointment of Mrs. Genevieve Daniels as chairman a Clean-up and Beautification Committee from that group.

The Chamber of Commerce has expressed its appreciation to the AARP for its interest in community affairs, Carver reported.

Hancock Library features first Coast showing of Pass photographer's work

BY SHERRY SCHWABACKER
Library Staff

The Hancock County Library System is currently displaying the first showing in this area of color photography by noted Pass Christian artist Avery Crouse.

Featured in the January, 1980 issue of American Photographer magazine, Crouse is considered to be a leader in the world of color fantasy photography.

He lives in the middle of a six-acre magnolia forest on the banks of the Wolf River, where he farms, tends chickens, and writes poetry.

Although his work has been seen on television and in many museums, including a recent two-month stay at the contemporary Arts Center in New Orleans, his work has never before been exhibited on the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Roger Green of the States-Item says "Crouse's photos bring to mind paintings by the "picture postcard" surrealists, artists like Magritte and Dalí, who paint hyper-realistic pictures of hallucinations and dreams."

To create his fantastic images, Crouse works with an extensive cross-file system of over 50 categories (such as rocks, skies, coastal waters, wild animals, domestic animals, etc.).

He cuts up and sandwiches individual negatives, using homemade pastel filters to produce the other-worldly hues seen in his prints.

Crouse rarely finds the world complete within one frame, so he does not pursue traditional imagery.

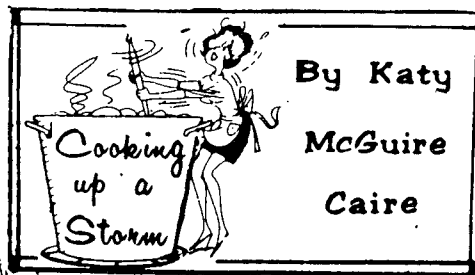

"I'm not really a hunter of photographs," he continues. "I don't stalk pictures. And I never cry about those I miss."

But on rare occasions Crouse finds a single photograph more fantastic than any he could possibly create with his manipulations. One summer afternoon when his daughter Caitlin fell asleep in a hammock, he waited patiently for the sun to move behind her head. Then, in a moment he captured all the remarkable qualities of light, color, and drama that he seeks in the darkroom.

"If something is wonderfully complete in the beginning," he explains, "there is no sense in taking it any further."

The exhibit will be held in the Crawford Room of the City-County Library in Bay St. Louis through the month of March. The public is invited to attend during regular library hours.

The traditional dish of the Swiss, fondue, like many another gourmet specialty, came into being not from haute cuisine, but from necessity.

Bread and cheese were made in the summer in quantities to last through the snowy Alpine winters. But when the winter set in, they froze so rock-hard they had to be cut into chunks with axes.

The hardy mountaineers scraped off pieces of cheese, which they heated near the fire until softened and creamy, then dipped the chunks of bread into the cheese or ladled the cheese into a plate with boiled potatoes - calling the result "Raclette," meaning "scraping."

As time went on inventive cooks added a splash of white wine and called it Fondue, from the French "fondre" meaning "to melt."

It's easy. Just rub your fondue pot (or other cooking pot) with a clove of garlic, pour in two cups of dry white wine and set over medium heat, warming the wine but taking care it doesn't boil. Add a generous tablespoon of lemon juice.

Toss in by handfuls a pound of shredded Swiss cheese, stirring all the while with a wooden spoon until the cheese melts, then briefly let it bubble and add two

This is the traditional fondue, using, of course, Swiss cheese or Gruyere, or a combination of the two.

Since that time, other inventive cooks around the world have added many variations - meat, Cheddar cheese, vegetables - and even dessert fondues.

Americans are especially fond of Beef Fondue, which calls for chunks of steak dipped in a hot oil bath and cooked to the desired doneness, then dipped into a variety of sauces, but here's the traditional.

tablespoons of kirsch or brandy, if you have any about the house, along with dashes of pepper.

Stir until blended, keep warm over the burner of your fondue pot or chafing dish or whatever. Serves four - and, by the way, you needn't bar the youngsters from the fondue pot, as the alcohol evaporates when heated.

Spear French bread cubes on long-handled forks and dunk into the mixture. (Copyright, 1980, Katharine D. M. Caire)

Jr. Food robbery suspect nabbed

Eric Moran, 22, Waveland, was arrested by Waveland police Monday and charged with armed robbery.

He was held at Hancock County Jail on $20,000 bond, and is scheduled for a preliminary hearing in Waveland City Court tonight. Police listed his address as 2104 McLaurin St.

Waveland's Special Investigator Robert (Poochie) Tartavouille said

Moran and a companion are alleged to have robbed the Jr. Food Store at the corner of Nicholson Avenue and U.S. 90 at Waveland on Aug. 5, 1979, with a pistol.

The second man is still at large. The holdup netted the robbers $182.81.

Waveland police were assisted by the Hancock County Sheriff's Department in the arrest.

VA questions and answers

Q-If a veteran dies before a home loan guaranteed by the Veterans Administration is repaid will VA pay off the balance?

A-No. The surviving spouse or other co-borrower must continue making the payments. However, mortgage life insurance, available from private companies, can provide protection against a survivor inheriting large monthly payments.

Q-I waived a portion of my military retired pay to receive Veterans Administration compensation. If I receive a VA clothing allowance due me because of my prosthetic devices, will it also be deducted from my retired pay?

A-No. Veterans receiving retired pay are not required to waive any portion of it in order to receive the VA clothing allowance.

Q-My wife and I are both veterans. May we acquire property jointly combine our entitlements, and increase the amount of a home loan guaranteed by the Veterans Administration?

A-Irrespective of the combined entitlement VA will not guarantee more than 60 percent of the loan.

Waveland Seniors plan Easter luncheon Monday

Ms. Pere Cabibi of Waveland Senior Citizens is urging all members to attend an Easter luncheon Monday at 11 a.m.

"Since 1980 has been designated as the year of the family, plans will be made to entertain Bay-Waveland children at an Easter Egg Hunt on Holy Saturday at 10 a.m. at Waveland Civic Center," Ms. Cabibi stated.

Chapter members should pay dues or they will forfeit your "Gold Card" membership, she pointed out. "Come to the Waveland Civic Center for fun, games, prizes and food-bring your sandwiches," Ms. Cabibi reminds.

Kellar, however, said Tuesday afternoon, "Most of the meeting concerned in-kind services the port and harbor was suppose to provide."

Webre explained the in-kind county contributions consist of county services, labor and office space to the engineering firm.

The county, Webre said, is to provide $3,300 of in-kind contributions with Burke and Associates providing a $33,200 plan for a Coastal Energy Impact Program project totaling $41,500.

Kellar stated, "Burke and Associates had turned down an $1,800 claim for in-kind services by the port and harbor commission for engineering services by the late Commission Engineer Robert Geiger."

"There was nothing in the minutes or any other records substantiating the man had provided engineering services on the project. They (Burke and Associates) wanted us to substantiate the in-kind services that had been done and there was no log of these services," Kellar added.

"I know the Coastal Energy Impact Program money is not available so we asked Webre what he expects the county to provide after the master plan is completed. We (the supervisors) wanted to see what was required in the plan," Kellar explained.

"Supervisor James Travirca asked the only question about Hill. He asked if Charlie Hill was still with Burke and Associates and the company's representative said no," Kellar said.

"We were trying to get our in-kind services straightened out and I don't think they're going to allow the in-kind services claimed. There was also $1,000 claimed for office space," Kellar explained.

"We either have to provide the in-kind contributions or pay up in cold cash," Kellar added.

"I think we got it straightened out. There was just a lack of communication and they're (the port and harbor commission) going to have to take a lot closer look at these services," Kellar said.

"We've asked for guidelines so we (the supervisors) can know what to expect when this plan is completed," Kellar stated.

Kellar said the project deadline is May and, "there is a possibility we may not have the study completed at that time."

However, Webre said, "The project is on schedule, but we are urging Burke and Associates to complete the study on the earliest possible date so the port and harbor commission and the board of supervisors can make an evaluation."

Defendant Board...imposes an unconstitutional restraint on the exercise of free speech and denies the Plaintiffs the equal protection of the law and due process of the law....

...That...McCullough...denied the Plaintiff, Gloria Holland (a PTO officer), access to copies of the journal sheets of the 1978-79 Student Activity Fund...in denial of her rights to free speech, due process and equal protection of the law; and"

"The defendants have been and remain in violation of the Open Meetings Law of Mississippi...by virtue of their failure to adopt or practice rules giving notice to the public of special meetings..."

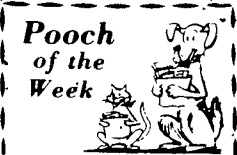

The motion continues to describe specific alleged violations of rights. The motion claims "...Policy 18 by its own language prohibits discussion of wages, hours or working conditions of teachers by group representatives-not just by teachers' groups but by any group of citizens..."

"...From the foregoing, it readily follows that the blanket policy of the Board is an unconstitutional infringement on the rights of teachers and others," the motion reads.

"The irony of this case...is that the present dispute between the...PTO and the Board grew out of efforts of the PTO to discuss and promote an air conditioning plan for North Bay Elementary School. The subject demonstrates the overlapping interests of teachers, students, and parents in the 'working conditions' of teachers, for the teachers and students obviously share the same condition of the air in which they work," the motion continues.

"Yet the School Board continues to avoid cooling the classrooms but persists in chilling fundamental freedoms," the court document adds. On the copying policy, the motion states, "...the Board, in implementing its procedures, chose to incorporate an unconstitutional restraint into its procedures. The copying policy gives the Superintendent discretion to grant requests that are for 'legitimate purposes' while denying those deemed 'trivialous'."

"Therefore, Plaintiffs respectfully request that the Court grant a declaratory ruling that the Defendants have failed to adhere to the Mississippi Open Meetings Law, resulting in an unconstitutional denial of due process as guaranteed by the Fourteenth Amendment...and further grant injunctive relief compelling the Defendants to promulgate the necessary procedures for giving notice of the times and places of all future meetings," the motion reads.

County Agent's Notes by John Smith

TEST SOIL NOW

If you haven't taken soil samples in your home garden the last two years, test the soil now to discover your soil problems. Don't wait until your plants are growing and suffering this spring.

For the best results, take two samples - one for fertility and one for nematodes. Contact the Extension County office for instructions on taking soil samples.

LOCATE PLANTING SEED
Arrange for planting seed now. Seed supplies appear to be adequate for all crops, and quality reports are good. The quality of soybean seed is excellent; rice, good. If you buy seed early, you can get the varieties, quality and amount you want.

If you saved your own planting seed, have them tested as soon as possible. If the quality is acceptable, have the seed cleaned. Cleaning improves plantability and removes weed seed.

WEED CONTROL ADDS PROFIT

Weed control is a major cost in soybean production. However, without weed control, soybean production would not be profitable.

There are many chemical options from which to select. Management is the key to success in controlling weeds. Weed maps or field records from last year will be helpful in planning this year's weed control program on a field-by-field basis.

SEEDLING SURVIVAL
How a tree seedling is planted can determine whether it survives. To plant correctly, dig holes large enough to allow roots to spread. Try to plant seedlings at about the same depth they grew in the nursery.

Pack the soil firmly around the roots to prevent air pockets that can kill seedlings. Recommended spacing of seedlings is seven feet apart on rows spaced eight or nine feet apart. Always protect newly set seedlings from livestock.

FmHA urges water service extension throughout Bay

BY EDGAR PEREZ

The Bay St. Louis City Council Tuesday authorized Bill Johnson of the Utility Department and James Chiniche, city engineer, to draft cost estimates on providing water service to all residents within city limits.

"This is the most urgent problem we face—to provide water to all of our citizens, especially for fire protection," said Councilman James Thriffley.

The need for the cost estimate was reported by Ronnie Murray, Gulf Regional Planning Commission representative, who said a request for the figures had come from Farmers Home Administration.

Murray reported it would rather consider a loan request to furnish service to all city residents at once rather than a piecemeal approach, Murray explained.

Chiniche noted the estimates should include costs of any additional wells and storage tanks which might be necessary in extension of service throughout the city, as well as labor and materials to extend the distribution system.

In addition, Joe Brown Engineers reported funds in the city's 1978 Small Cities Project will exceed costs by several thousand dollars.

On Brown's recommendation, the council approved a resolution dedicating those excess funds to further extension of sewer services on Washington Street.

"These excess funds should be used to extend the sewer system on Washington Street as far as we can go," Brown said.

The engineer estimated the additional sewerage should run some 200 feet along Washington Street toward US-90.

Brown also notified the council Graham Construction Co. has been put on notice to repair a cave-in at Turner and Victoria Streets.

He said the company will be notified by certified mail to begin the repairs in ten days, or the city will make necessary repairs and bill the contractor.

So far, Brown added, Graham has failed to respond to requests on the Turner-Victoria cave-in. A copy of the certified letter will be sent to the contractor's bonding company, Brown said.

"That is guaranteed to bring an answer from the contractor," the engineer explained.

Also Tuesday, council authorized Mayor Larry Bennett to complete necessary agreements to secure federal funding of an energy project involving windmills referred to by Council President Pete Benvenuti as "Thriffley's Folly."

City Clerk Kelly McQueen said specifications have been received on the project and bids will be received April 8.

Richard Thomas of Moore and Powell Certified Public Accountants presented his firm's audit of city accounts. The document was accepted by the council.

Thomas commended McQueen on the city's accounting practices, and the council voted to likewise commend McQueen in writing.

"The records of the city are in excellent condition," Thomas noted.

Forester reveals 16th Section timber theft

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Hancock County School Board Tuesday night instructed its attorney to draft a letter setting out board policy on woodcutting on 16th Section acreage.

Area Forester Rand Riedrich reported at a recess school board meeting Tuesday night, which some 20 people attended, one of his technicians found an individual cutting wood on 16th Section school district land north of the Leetown Community and he has found evidence of extensive illegal timber cutting in this area.

Riedrich, who manages county school land, requested the school board draft a letter stating their policy regarding woodcutting on school board lands.

The board received a letter from Riedrich Monday night stating the area forester's findings and requesting guidance from the school board.

Board Member Oris Ladner requested Monday night, "Why doesn't he (Riedrich) come over and explain himself."

School Board President Woodrow Ladner asked Riedrich if any pine had been cut.

"No just oak, but it is a violation of the law and it depends on whether you want to prosecute or not. It was such a small amount I thought I should contact the board," Riedrich replied.

"It's traditional for people to cut timber on 16th Section school land, but this land is a wildlife habitat and there's a real good market for hardwood pulp today," Riedrich said.

Oris Ladner reported, "I know international Paper Co. is encouraging the cutting of this kind of wood."

Riedrich replied, "I also know a group that wants to make a park out of that area."

"The county also pays a lot of money for us to mark 16th Section land and to get to that property you have to go through the gate," Riedrich stated.

"We know who the people are (the individuals cutting the wood)," Riedrich added.

Board Member Monvel Cuevas said, "I don't see why we should prosecute them. If they were cutting pine I would be concerned because it's pulpwood."

Woodrow Ladner said he would not object to persons cutting a small amount of firewood for their own use, but would object to a large amount of wood being cut for profit.

Riedrich replied, "If that was the case a person could cut small amounts of wood at a time all summer and get thousands of cords of wood... in New Orleans you can get anywhere from $75-$100 for a cord of good hardwood firewood."

"I leave this matter to the discretion of the board. The Mississippi Forestry Commission has to designate an area to cut wood, but whatever you want to do I would appreciate you putting it in writing," Riedrich added.

"This type of woodcutting is illegal and depending on the amount cut, could be a felony," Riedrich said.

discuss the matter could come to the front of the room and those who did not want to discuss the matter to go to the rear of the room.

This incident, Delcuze claims, is the reason he was suspended from teaching.

Delcuze noted, however, that he had a previous understanding with Superintendent of Schools J. D. McCullough that his teaching position would be in jeopardy if Delcuze discussed religion in the classroom.

The Mississippi native said Wednesday he has been forced to resign from two other teaching jobs, one with the Hancock County School System and the other at the First Assembly Academy in New Orleans, for preaching to students.

He taught in the Hancock County system from 1977 to 1979, and at the New Orleans school from August to December in 1979.

He was forced to resign from the New Orleans school because, he said, his version of the second coming of Christ differed from the administration's version.

"This was a very minor difference of the sequence of events in the second coming of Christ," Delcuze said Wednesday.

Delcuze said his philosophy is teaching religion in the classroom is to "help prepare kids for life...no person is equipped for life here or hereafter without Jesus Christ."

"Some argue that it is not my role to teach religion, but rather the role of the parent and preacher. Our system of education has always held that the teacher serves as 'in loco parentis' or in place of the parent," Delcuze said Wednesday.

"If I were to teach Communism in class I would get in trouble because the community doesn't believe in Communism. I have taught about Jesus and His love for us—the Gospel—and I am in trouble for that," he continued.

"That leaves me with the inescapable conclusion that our society no longer believes in Jesus," he added.

Delcuze said Wednesday he is not being paid while on suspension from his teaching position, contrary to earlier reports which indicated he was suspended with pay.

"I am not getting paid for not working," Delcuze said.

The former teacher said he is not planning to form his own church "unless the people come to me."

"I feel called to the ministry, but I am not going to go out and organize a church unless the people come and ask me to. I am not going to go knocking on doors," Delcuze said.

"I am just waiting for what the Lord sends," he added.

Delcuze said he has asked Bay School Superintendent J.D. McCullough to allow him to address the board in public Monday instead of calling for an executive session and banning the press and public from the hearing.

Trophy cases asked for HNC

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

The Hancock County School Board has requested a local contractor to estimate costs for constructing trophy cases at Hancock North Central High School.

The board's decision Tuesday night stemmed from discussions at Monday and Tuesday night school board meetings with HNC Basketball Coach Roland Ladner.

"Our trophies are scattered all over the place. We need a trophy case because we have no safe place to put our trophies," Coach Ladner said.

Coach Ladner also said the high school and professional jerseys worn by Wendell Ladner were missing.

"Former Assistant Principal Jerry Mullins had an office strong box built into the wall of his office which had Wendell Ladner's jerseys. The safe is now missing and we never found out what happened to it or the jerseys."

HNC Principal Thad Haskins said, "This year we bought a $500 trophy case for the main office and a $285 trophy case for the band hall."

Waveland Contractor Vernon Ladner suggested sliding glass patio doors and plywood be used to construct trophy cases which would be cheaper and more durable than buying prefabricated cases.

Board Member Oris Ladner asked Vernon Ladner to bring an estimate for the cases to the board.

Coach Ladner said, "We've had bids before for things like outdoor courts and everytime we get these bids someone hollers more basketball."

"We're operating with one gym for grades one-12 and if we had outdoor courts we could have physical education and tennis classes on these courts. We could avoid taking kids out of prime study time for basketball when these students could be using this time for study," Coach Ladner reported.

School patron Richard Patterson said, "The school board ought to take a ride to Charles B. Murphy and Gulfview Elementary Schools at look at all the trophies sitting on the floor."

"Let's think about the other end of the county. Those trophies mean as much to those kids as the ones at North Central," Patterson stated.

"We've got requisition forms for trophy cases and anything else for the various schools. I can't see why this is such a big deal," Board Member Louie Ladner said.

Coach Ladner replied, "I love Hancock County and I want to see our schools improve, but I've presented these things before and they'll say we've got bills to pay."

Louie Ladner added, "A purchase order system wasn't set up until two or three years ago."

Haskins said, "I have not signed one requisition that hasn't been filled."

In other business Monday night the board:

—Approved the release of Robert A. Gustin Jr. from county schools to attend classes in the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School District;

—Approved a $20,577 payment to Data Processing Consultants for the school district's new computer, software and personnel training;

—Approved the resignation of Bus Driver Sharon Ladner; rescue operations.

"Due to the strong north wind that night, nobody was able to take a boat out and search," Peterson said Wednesday.

"We felt the people on the boat were safe, but we also felt it was unsafe to send search boats into the waters under such weather conditions," he continued.

"Sunday morning a Coast Guard helicopter and boat were sent to Cat Island, where the Guardsman found the boat moored on the south side of the island," Peterson explained.

Word came from the Coast Guard that the boat had been found near the island at approximately 4 p.m. and all passengers were being transported to Gulfport by the helicopter, Peterson said.

"It was a bad night. The north wind kept the search postponed until Sunday morning," Peterson said.

The passengers of the boat were apparently unhurt as hospital records show none of the boaters were admitted to Gulfport Memorial Hospital, Garden Park Hospital, Gulf Coast Community Hospital, or Hancock General Hospital.

A Coast Guard spokesman in Pascagoula Wednesday refused to further identify those persons rescued from the island, referring inquiries to a New Orleans Coast Guard office.

A Coast Guard spokesman in New Orleans said his office has no record of the operation.

VFW Auxiliary to sponsor cancer seminar

A special cancer seminar will be sponsored by the Theodore S. Price V.F.W. Ladies Auxiliary Monday, March 21.

The seminar opens at 8 p.m. in the Gulf National Bank civic room.

The seminar is scheduled for men and women, with a question and answer series after the showing of three films.

Mrs. Lucille Boudreaux, auxiliary president, said the seminar is cosponsored by the American Cancer Society.

"There will be no admission, and we hope as many as possible will attend. The V.F.W. will serve refreshments," Ms. Boudreaux said.

ROTARY GOVERNOR—Powell Ogletree, left, District 684 Rotary governor spoke at a February Bay Rotary Club meeting during observance of Rotary International's 75th anniversary, discussing importance of Rotary throughout the world. Ogletree also recognized Joseph Scharif who was named a Paul Harris recipient, and Carl Smith, a previous Paul Harris fellow. Dick Kosbab, president and Tom Hitchcock join Ogletree, a Hattiesburg resident, at the head table. (Staff photo-Ellis Cuevas)

ADDRESSES ROTARY—Honorable Dan M. Russell Jr., U.S. District Judge and former president of the Bay St. Louis Rotary Club was guest speaker on March 27. Judge Russell, former attorney in Bay St. Louis, served as president of the local club in 1946-47. He told Rotarians of some of his experiences as a U.S. District judge, on the recent occasion honoring past presidents of the Bay Rotary. (Staff photo-Ellis Cuevas)

Book Review

Compiled by Sherry Schwabacher
Library Staff

The Hancock County Library is overflowing with new books and now we need patrons to borrow them. Here is a list of some of these books that are looking for readers:

SAY IT AIN'T SO, JOE! by Donald Gropman. This biography of baseball great, Shoeless Joe Jackson, traces his career from the cotton mills of South Carolina where he went to work at the age of six, to stardom in the American League, through his involvement in the 1919 Black Sox Scandals and subsequent banishment from organized baseball, and into his later career as a legendary barnstorming semi-pro ballplayer throughout his native South.

THE BELL RINGS AT FOUR by Dorothy Redus Robinson. In this, a black teacher's chronicle of change, Mrs. Robinson tells of her teaching career, from 1928 and a one-room school for black children to 1974 as the principal of a large, integrated elementary school.

JEWISH HOLIDAY COOK-BOOK by Susan Gold Purdy. A nice collection of traditional recipes telling a little about each holiday and then giving instructions for the dishes most identified with the holiday.

THE JOY OF PHOTOGRAPHY from the editors of Eastman Kodak. A guide to the tools and techniques of better photography including special portfolios by Gordon Parks and Ernst Haas.

SERPENTINE by Thomas Thompson. The true story of a sinister and mesmerizing young man named Charles Sobraj, who swept back and forth across half the world, leaving in his wake a trail of blood, horror and baffling mystery that was to become one of the most bizarre series of crimes in modern history.

PRINCESS PAMELA by Ray Russell. The story of Pamela Summerfield, the same age as young Princess Victoria (soon to become Queen of England) and her entanglement with Victoria's disreputable uncle, the Duke of Cumberland.

UNHOLY CHILD by Catherine Breslin. A novelization of one of the most shocking stories in recent history—the apparent murder by a nun of her secretly newborn child!

PETER CASANO
SSC's Casano
in National Merit finalist

St. Stanislaus High School senior, Peter Casano, has been named a finalist in the National Merit Scholarship Program.

Casano achieved the status of merit finalist on the basis of his scores on the National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test, according to Brother Eldon Crifasi, SSC principal. As one of 14,000 merit finalist from throughout the United States, Casano will now compete for one of 4,300 merit scholarships being offered by the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Total value of these merit scholarships for 1980 will exceed $13 million.

Casano is son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Casano of Pass Christian and is presently in his sixth year at St. Stanislaus.

He is an honor roll student, a member of the varsity tennis team and a member of the weightlifting club.

In the State Science and Mathematics Tournament, he placed first in the state in physics and he scored in the top 10 percent in mathematics.

After graduation from St. Stanislaus, Casano plans to attend Tulane University in New Orleans, LA where he hopes to pursue pre-medicine studies.

News of St. Clare's

News from the Church of St. Ann

A thought for the day from the library of Father Canisius Hayes, pastor St. Ann's Parish.

Like love itself the person of Jesus "On His Cross" is both a comfort and a challenge. The comfort is more profound than anything we have experienced. The "Shalom" Be at Peace. I understand. It is always held out to us--The challenge is: "Love one another as I have loved you!" Powell Lenten devotions, consisting of the stations of the cross and Benediction of the Most Blessed Sacrament, are held at 7:30 p.m. on Wednesdays at St. Ann's Church.

St. Ann's Altar Society Communion Mass will be Saturday, March 8, at 5 p.m.

Sister Mary Cornelia, parish religious coordinator, is asking parents of children preparing for their First Holy Communion to attend a meeting in parish hall Sunday, March 9, following 9:15 a.m. Mass.

There will be no religious education classes Tuesday, March 11, and Thursday, March 13, for grades first through eighth because of spring holidays, according to Sister Mary Cornelia. Classes will resume March 18.

Lenten Schedule
Sunday Masses-Saturdays 6 p.m. Sundays, 7, 9 and 11 a.m. Weekday Masses-Mondays, Tuesdays, Thursdays and Fridays 7 a.m. and 6 p.m., Wednesdays, 7 a.m., 8:45 a.m. and 6 p.m., Stations of the Cross Fridays 6:20 p.m., Baptisms by appointment by calling the rectory, 467-9275. St. Henry's Mission-Saturdays-Mass 7:30 p.m. Religious education classes for grades first through sixth are held at 3 p.m. and for grades seventh and eighth at 7 p.m. on Mondays.

The first activity for the annual parish fair will be a spaghetti and meatball dinner Sunday, March 9, from noon to 2 p.m. in parish hall. Donation $2.50 per plate, take out orders available.

The Sodality of Our Lady of St. Clare's Parish met Tuesday afternoon February 26, in parish hall with Rev. Msgr. John Scanlon, pastor, offering the opening prayer and Mrs. Ivery Cox, prefect, conducting the business session.

Mesdames Thomas Spear, Raymond Norton, August Moskau and James Belsome, new members, were welcomed by the group.

Final plans were made for the February 28 trip to Rosaryville, La.

Following the closing prayer by Monsignor Scanlon a social hour was held for the 47 members attending. The next meeting will be at 2 p.m. March 25 in parish hall.

A day of recollection was conducted by Rev. John McSpirt, S.F. of Delisle, Miss., Thursday, February 28, in Rosaryville, La. Among those attending from St. Clare's Parish were sister Mary Jane, O.P., Mesdames Shirley Cox, Clare Cater, Agathe Canady, Tina Louvier, Lilian Chagnard, Louise Markey, Dottie Mendow, Billie Segrave, Ethel Dorman, Myrtle Faulkner, Cecile Galian, Althea O'Brien, Odette Puchol, Gladys O'Neill, Aline Pione, Pere Cabbe, Gladys Noonan, Marie Lot, Gertrude Shambley, Mildred Shambley, Georgia Diebold, Anna Mar Roppole, Marjorie Walker, Catherine Galian, Mary Lalla, Julia Leddy, Nona Zimmerman, Myrtle Durel, Judy Bergeron, Mary Jo Kreuck, Elaine Lyell and Liz Prime and Miss Elda Louvier and Mrs. Mildred Rupp and St. Ann's Parish, Clermont Harbor.

Outstanding Indian art included in museum show

Objects Of Bright Pride: Northwest Coast Indian Art, an exhibition organized by The Center for Inter-American Relations and the American Federation of Arts, whose collection of opened at New Orleans Museum of Art Saturday and will remain on view through April 6.

Bella Coola Indian Face Mask

The 100 objects are on loan from the American Museum of Natural History, New York, whose collection of Northwest Coast Indian art is one of the most important and largest in the world.

This exhibition of masks, headdresses, rattles, feast dishes, spoons, storage chests, and other ceremonial and utilitarian objects includes some of the earliest pieces acquired for the famous collection.

Most of the one hundred objects were collected and documented in the late 19th century, when the objects were still widely in use.

The Northwest Coast Indian art represents a high level of artistry, demonstrating in particular the mastery of carving wood, horn and bone.

The Northwest Coast Indians represented in the exhibition - the Tlingit, Haida, Tsimshian, Kwakiutl, Bella Bella and Bella Coola - inhabited the twelve hundred mile stretch of coastline that extends from Yukatat Bay in Alaska to Puget Sound, Washington.

This is an area of rich natural resources - abundant fish and wildlife, lush vegetation, and dense forests - where food and materials for clothing and shelter were relatively easy to obtain.

The Indians were able to gather the food needed for an entire year during the summer months, allowing considerable time to create objects for the elaborate ceremonials which were an important part of their culture.

The social status of the Northwest Coast Indian depended upon lineage and wealth. Much of the ceremonial activity, and consequently the art was directed toward maintaining or enhancing wealth and social position.

An important ceremony was the potlatch, a feast given by a tribal chief to formally announce or reaffirm his claims, or the claims of an heir, to inherited or acquired titles and privileges.

The feast was accompanied by songs and dances recounting the origin of the host's clan and its special prerogatives, believed to have been acquired by an ancestor during an encounter with a supernatural being in human or animal form.

As a climax to the feast, the host distributed gifts to the guests invited to witness his claims.

The ceremonial headdresses, masks and costumes worn by the chief and his family, the utensils provided by him for his guests, and the chests in which his property was kept and from it was distributed were decorated with stylized representations of the supernatural beings or animals believed to have been his ancestors or to have assisted them.

These same crests or totems were depicted on house fronts and on memorial poles.

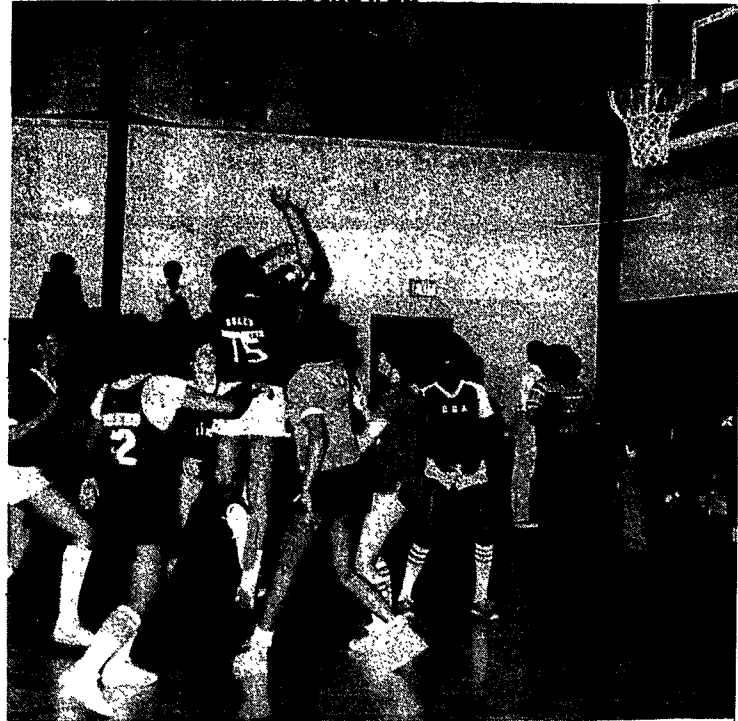

The headdresses and masks worn during the potlatches and initiation rites of secret societies are the most spectacular and colorful objects in this exhibition.

They are made of carved and painted wood and are sometimes decorated with abalone shell, feathers, animal hide and fur.

Masks created by the Kwakiutl representing fantastic bird monsters with movable beaks were worn during secret cannibal society dances and are bold in execution, large and fearsome.

Hancock pugilists net state titles

Two members of the Hancock Boxing Club last recently won State Golden Gloves championships in Cleveland, Miss. and will advance to Junior Olympics, according to Head Coach Harvey Mitchell.

Joe Pavolini, going unopposed in his weight class, and Sam Schoonmaker, fighting Ricky Johnson of Greenville, will now travel to Junior Olympics.

Mike Stringer, also a Hancock boxer, was defeated in the final match in a close decision against Joe White of Cleveland.

The championship is Pavolini's third such state title and is Schoonmaker's second in three years.

Pavolini will travel to Jackson, Tenn. for the South State Golden Gloves Mar. 28-30.

Bay boxers slate Saturday match

The Bay-Kiln-Waveland Amateur Athletic Union-sanctioned boxing match at the Disabled American Veterans hall on Main Street in Bay St. Louis Saturday night at 7 p.m.

Stanley (Snakes) Christmas is billed as the main event pugilist in the 23-card bout, according to Head Coach John Whisenhunt.

Christmas recently won the South Mississippi Golden Gloves championship in his age division.

The match is sponsored by DAV Chapter 50 and all proceeds will go to the DAV and related activities.

Shane Kowalski and Ronnie Peterson II will be making their boxing debuts at the match.

"It is best their first matches be at home so we can keep a close eye on them," Whisenhunt said.

All officials will be from South Mississippi with at least 10 years of experience, the head coach reported.

Chester Commaux, head state referee, will oversee the match, he added.

Nine boxing clubs are slated to participate in the match, including Jackson and Natchez clubs.

Dr. M.J. Wolfe will be ringside doctor for the event. The main event trophy was donated by Hancock County Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson Sr., and the semi-main event trophy was donated by the Bay-Waveland Tire Company. The junior main event trophy was donated by Hancock County Tax Assessor Edward (Eddie) Murtagh.

Womens softball league planned

A women's softball league is being formulated for Bay St. Louis and Waveland residents, according to Mike Benvenuti.

The city-sponsored league is tentatively slated to play Monday, Wednesday, and Friday nights following men's play. Entry deadline for individuals wishing to participate in the league is March 31, Benvenuti said.

Anyone interested may call Benvenuti at 467-4800 during the day and 467-0570 after 6 p.m.

WAVELAND BASEBALL
Elmwood Little League will conduct tryouts March 8 and 22 from 10 a.m. until 2 p.m. at the Waveland Ballpark for children 6-12 years old. All persons wishing to participate must register with a certified birth certificate and live within league boundaries. An organizational meeting is slated tonight at 7 p.m. in the Waveland Civic Center.

LITTLE LEAGUE MEET
The Hancock-Harrison Little League will conduct an organizational meeting at 7 p.m. tonight at the Annunciation Catholic School cafeteria in Kiln. New officers and members of the board of directors will be selected at the meeting. All interested persons are urged to attend.

HIGH SCORER-Nat Kelfer, No. 14 on the Read Road Car Wash squad of New Orleans, rests after a tough match against the Biloxi Nets in which he scored a game total of 71 points during the St. Rose Semi-Professional Basketball tournament. The accomplishment came in the first weekend of play in the double-elimination tournament as Read Road defeated the Nets 136-118. (Staff photo-Catherine Lizana)

SPORT BILLY INTERVIEWS THE SUPERSTARS

MEET: OLYMPIC GOLD MEDALIST SWIMMER JOHN NABER

Sport Billy, the official mascot of many international sports federations and a popular worldwide symbol of fun and fair play in all sports, recently interviewed swimmer John Naber, winner of four Gold Medals at the 1976 Olympics in Montreal.

Sport Billy also was the official mascot for the first World Cups held during 1979 for the Federation Internationale de Natation Amateur, the world governing body for swimming, synchronized swimming, diving and water polo.

Sport Billy: John, swimming is, by and large, a sport for the individual. When you were at the Olympics, was it every person for himself?

John: On the contrary, in all the years I've been swimming I've never seen such a close-knit team. Of course, everyone was vying for a Gold Medal—we all want to win. But there was a real sense of team togetherness. We weren't competing against each other because we represented the United States. The freestylers, for example, would cheer on the breaststrokes and everyone would root for the medley participants.

Sport Billy: Which brings me to ask, why spend so many years of arduous, grueling training in a sport that offers so few financial rewards?

John: I started swimming at a relatively late age — I was a freshman at Woodside High School (Woodside, California is a suburb of San Francisco). I realized I'd never be a millionaire swimming hundreds of laps each day, but it didn't matter. I swam because I loved the sport. It wasn't easy, of course. When I trained for the '76 Olympics I worked out four hours a day, six days a week, 11 months a year. I averaged about 10 miles a day.

Sport Billy: And has it been worth it?

John: Definitely. Swimming has provided me with the biggest thrills of my life—winning the four Gold Medals (100 and 200 meter backstroke and the 400 and 800 meter freestyle medley) at Montreal and breaking my first American record (in the 200 yard backstroke) as a senior in high school.

Sport Billy: How do you think the men's and women's swim team will fare in Moscow this summer?

John: In 1976 the men's team gave up only one gold, one silver and six bronze medals. Our only threat were the East Germans. We had a great coach in Jim Counsellman, from the University of Indiana. Last summer Jim became the oldest person (age 58) to ever successfully swim the English Channel. His stamina rubbed off on us. At Montreal, the women's team in '76 won one gold and garnered 20 percent of the total medals. In Moscow this summer I'm predicting the men's team will win about half of the total medals. The women will improve and also win 50 percent of the medals.

Sport Billy: John, winning in any sport is obviously the ultimate goal. But you sometimes hear about parents who drive and push their children at an early age to become champions. What advice would you give to aspiring Olympic swimmers?

John: First of all, it's wrong for anyone to be pushed into anything, especially swimming, which can be a real "me" sport. You must like the sport and if you're dead set on becoming a swimmer, you must work hard and set goals according to your potential. If you swim a 56.2 in the 100 meter freestyle, for example, try and follow it up with a 55.5 the next time around. And you can't rest on your laurels. Don't spend 20 minutes thinking about your breaststroke—you must get in the water and practice.

Sport Billy: What kind of diet do you recommend?

John: I've never really followed any diet. Everything in moderation is the best example to follow. If your body craves protein, eat some meat, preferably lean. If it needs carbohydrates, eat lots of whole grain food products. But try and stay away from "junk" foods — they're "empty" calories with no nutritional value.

Sport Billy: Four years and four Gold Medals later, what are your plans now?

John: I'll be the color commentator for all the swimming events at this summer's Olympics in Moscow. I'm also working for Speedo Swim Manufacturers, Ampex and Minute Maid and make a lot of public appearances at high schools and colleges, talking about swimming and sportsmanship. You can be an Olympian and good sportsman!

Consumer comment requested on food labeling practices

Would you like more or different information on food labels?

If so, send your written comments to the Hearing Clerk, FDA (HFA-306), Room 4-65, 5600 Fishers Lane, Rockville, MD 20857. Comments will be accepted until March 20.

In 1978, the Food and Drug Administration (FDA), the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) and the Federal Trade Commission (FTC) began a food labeling policy review. These agencies held hearings across the country and asked for written comments.

Based on comments received and their review of current laws, regulations and policies, the agencies have agreed major changes are needed in food labeling, says Ina Kimbrough, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service foods and nutrition specialist.

The agencies' plan for label changes includes more ingredient labeling, increased labeling of amounts of ingredients (percentage of meat, for example) and expanding nutrition labeling to include the amounts of sugar, sodium and cholesterol. Other proposed changes will require new legislation.

The agencies will seek or support legislation to require full ingredient labeling on standardized foods and give them authority to require nutrition labeling and increased information on the freshness of foods.

A food labeling survey, testimony at the hearings and the public's written comments show consumers' main concern about food labeling is how ingredients are listed and identified. Concerns are disclosure of all ingredients for all foods, quantitative labeling and declaration of colors, flavors and spices, explains Mrs. Kimbrough.

"Consumers want to know what the foods they eat contain. Yet the law exempts foods covered by FDA's standards of identity, which include about 275 foods such as canned fruits and vegetables, milk, cheese, ice cream, breads and margarine, from declaring their mandatory ingredients—ingredients these foods must contain. FDA can now require only that optional ingredients in standardized foods be declared," she adds.

The public's preference on quantitative labeling of ingredients is clear. More than half of the comments on ingredient labeling issues included ideas on this. More than 75 percent argued for some form of percentage labeling.

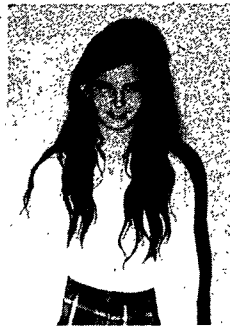

After further study and public discussion, the USDA and FDA will take format for nutrition labeling and the information that should be required on nutrition labels.

Christ Episcopal cagers lead league

Christ Episcopal defeated Our Lady of the Gulf basketball team No. One last week to become sole possessor of first place in the Bay-Waveland Church Basketball League.

The Christ Episcopal cagers took over the top slot with an 80-66 win over the OLG squad.

Tonight Christ Episcopal plays OLG No. Two at 8:15 p.m. and OLG No. One meets First Assembly of God at 7 p.m.

OLG No. Two last week defeated First Methodist 64-24 to move into a two-way tie for third place.

First Assembly of God last week defeated First Presbyterian 58-40 to move into the third place deadlock. First Baptist is tied with OLG No. One for second place with a 3-1 slate.

At 8:15 p.m. tonight CYO meets the Methodist squad to determine last place in the league. CYO is tied for fourth with OLG No. Two, and Methodist is in the cellar with a winless 0-4 record.

The public is invited to attend the games in the Sy Rosenthal Gymnasium in Bay St. Louis free of charge.

Decline in state gross product predicted in 80's

Mississippi will probably endure a couple of quarters of declining gross state product (GSP) in the near future, but the state should suffer less economically than the Northeast and Midwest where the nation's heavy industrial complexes are located.

That prediction came as part of the Mississippi Research and Development Center's Economic Forecast, released recently. The slackening demand for consumer durables adversely affects supplying industries and, thus, the entire U.S. Economy, the forecast notes. "Mississippi's per capita income is expected to increase about 11 percent in 1980," said Huntley Biggs, manager of the Center's Economic Analysis Division. "However, after adjusting for effects of inflation, average income will increase only about one percent."

The nation's consumption of durable goods is expected to decline slightly in 1980 and then remain constant for the decade, according to the forecast. That decline is due partly to decreased car purchases as higher fuel prices curb driving habits.

In Mississippi the volume of new car sales was slightly down during the last half of 1979, and sales of used cars declined almost 15 percent. People spent less on cars, probably reallocating some of that money to fuel. Gasoline sales at the pump declined in unit volume, but increased in actual dollar terms by 20 percent—from $424.9 million to $509 million. Repeated warnings of impending grim times have caused many state businesses to keep inventories low. As a result, the state's vulnerability to cyclical swings is less than it was during the 1974-75 recession, the forecast says. An exception noted is in the automotive parts industry, where layoffs have already occurred.

Construction activity in the state should drop dramatically as projects already begun in 1979 are completed. "Continued high interest rates no doubt will discourage home purchases and depress housing construction for the next couple of years," Biggs said.

Nationally, single dwelling housing starts are expected to be off 10 percent in 1981 following a decline of 15 percent in 1979. High mortgage rates and building costs will prevent a recovery in the housing market until 1981. Fewer construction projects in the state will mean employment reductions. Agriculture employment in

Not many actresses are known for their adventuresome spirit. Most prefer to work in Hollywood with all the comforts of a major studio. But not Mia Farrow, who plays Jason Robard's daughter in Hurricane, which was filmed on the remote South Pacific island of Bora Bora. "The assignment sounded like the opportunity of a lifetime," says Mia. "I didn't even ask my agent if there was electricity on the island. I just grabbed my copy of the script and caught the next plane out."

"Everyone kept saying that I looked like the leading man type, so I decided to give it a try," says Chevy Chase, who stars in Foul Play. "And it's turned out to be fun. Better than summer camp. But actually I'm a writer, and acting itself means very little to me. You're simply a pawn of whomever wrote your material. Acting is fun only when I can use it to express an opinion. Still, making love to Goldie Hawn in Foul Play had its rewards, and if I have to be an actor to get to do that, I'll be an actor."

John Belushi achieved instant movie stardom with the release of the outrageous comedy National Lampoon's Animal House. Says Belushi, "I'm not abandoning TV or anything. My goal is finding a good script and a good director, wherever they are. I was offered movies before Saturday Night Live, but nothing proposed was as exciting as the show. On Animal House, I was in heaven."

What does it take to be a professional comic? Says Gabe Kaplan, star of Fast Break. "What it takes is a funny way of looking at things and the ability to get that insight across to an audience. In a social situation, I'm not at all amusing. I'm the last guy in the world you'd choose to live up a party." Gabe's shyness has had its drawbacks. "People don't necessarily expect you to walk into their homes and be hilariously funny. But they do expect you to be entertaining and when you're not — which I'm not — they think you don't like them. It's a little like asking a dentist to come over for cocktails and fix a root canal."

While King of the Gypsies marks his first starring screen role, actor Judd Hirsch is already an accomplished player in theatre and television. At the same time he was filming Gypsies, he appeared nightly on Broadway in the Neil Simon hit Chapter Two. Before that, Hirsch starred in the network action-adventure series Delvecchio and in the Emmy Award-winning TV classic The Law. Says Hirsch, "I don't like it when people tell me I'm going to get into star-tripping or be temperamental because I've done television or I'm better known." He's unfazed by the rush of TV series deals and movie properties that, he laughs, "are straining my agent's eyes. I don't do big cars, big houses or big egos. I'm an actor. All I need are good parts."

Area residents cited by Gulfport Seabees

Four area residents are among 19 civilian employees of the Seabee Center in Gulfport who were cited recently by Capt. R.J. McHugh Jr. for their services and performance.

Receiving awards for their outstanding performances were Reginald D. Laneaux of Bay St. Louis and Clifton Laddner of Pass Christian who received a 30-year award. A 15-year award went to Laurence M. Necaise of Pass Christian. Robert Lee Jones of Bay St. Louis retired recently from the Seabee Center. Jones was an automotive mechanic in the construction equipment and repair facility at the Center.

Discharge review deadline extended

The Veterans Administration announced today that April 1, 1981 has been set as the new deadline for former military personnel separated before January 1, 1965 with undesirable discharges to apply to the Department of Defense for discharge review. The old deadline was January 1, 1980.

Without the extension, the former members would have been precluded from seeking upgrading by the Discharge Review Boards because of the normal 15-year statute of limitations prescribed by law. The deadline was extended because of the significant number of applications being received.

As of November 1, 1979, the three Discharge Review Boards have heard approximately 3,500 waiver cases and there are nearly 5,600 cases pending before them.

Applications for discharge review, DD Form 293, can be obtained from VA regional offices, veterans services organizations and military installations.

Discharge reviews can be initiated by filing the DD 293 ("Application for Review and Discharge or Dismissal from the Armed Forces of the United States") with the Discharge Review Board of the Service concerned.

NOTICE OF PROPOSAL TO LEASE
 Notice is hereby given that the State Mineral Lease Division of the Bureau of Geology and Energy Resources of the Department of Natural Resources, P.O. Box 10586, 2390 Highway 80 West, Jackson, Mississippi 39209, will receive bids until 10:00 A.M. March 25, 1980, covering a lease for only oil and gas and all constituent products produced therefrom (both hydrocarbon and non-hydrocarbon), and sulphur, on certain State-owned lands, located in Hancock County, Mississippi, comprising approximately 1012.4 acres, more or less, and more particularly described below:
 Sections 6 and 8, Township 9 South, Range 16 West, and also West portion of Section 5, lying West of line drawn North from section line between sections 8 and 9, Township 9 South, Range 16 West.
 All bids must be submitted in writing, addressed to the Mineral Lease Division, Bureau of Geology and Energy Resources, Department of Natural Resources, P.O. Box 10586, 2390 Highway 80 West, Jackson, Mississippi 39209 and must be accompanied by a certified or cashier's check for the full amount of the bonus consideration. Bids may be delivered personally to Donald R. Travis, Chief, Mineral Lease Division or Charlie Blacklock, Executive Director, Department of Natural Resources, 2390 Highway 80 West, Jackson, Mississippi. The bids will be considered by the Commission of Natural Resources at the next regular meeting. The lease form used shall be Producers 68-05803 (revised October 1, 1948) with the following specific terms:
 1. The lease will cover only oil and gas and all constituent products produced therefrom (both hydrocarbon and non-hydrocarbon), and sulphur.
 2. The primary term of the lease will be three (3) years.
 3. Delay rental will be $2.00 per year per mineral acre.
 4. Royalty on sulphur will be $2.00 per long ton.
 5. Royalty on oil and gas will be 17% percent.
 6. Shut-in royalty will be $50.00 per well per year.
 7. The lease will be executed covering such interest as is owned by the State, and such lease will be without warranty of title.
 The best bid will be determined upon bonus consideration offered. The Commission reserves the right to reject any and all bids. The successful bidder will be required to pay the cost of this advertisement, and may be required to furnish a performance bond. This, the thirteenth day of February, 1980.
